

BRUNELLO TECNICO

Brunello Tecnico, one of the few enological innovation in many years, is an universal glass designed for all great reds. It features a unique inward asymmetrical indentation that creates a an obstacle to the wine swirling. This optimises the air mixing of the wine's volatile substances, and greatly enhances the appreciation of the wine's aroma and Bouquet.

It is a 24% lead crystal goblet made in Tuscany entirely by hand by the artisans of Arnofo di Cambio, featuring the famous 'indentation', that enhances the wine's aromas. Designed by R. Cantoni

Brunello Tecnico is the official tasting glass of the 'Consorzio del vino del Brunello di Montalcino' .

A limited edition of Brunello Tecnico has been commissioned by Robert Parker and was featured in his web site www.erobertparker.com (2007)
